Shellie Schlenz is foremost a wife to her husband of almost 28 years and mother to 3 children ranging in age from 23 to 17. She has lived those almost 28 years in a suburb outside of Atlanta, GA. During those childrearing years, she was a stay-at-home mom but as her children grew, she began working with her husband by helping in the office by running their expanding businesses. As their children reached middle and high school age she worked closely with booster clubs to help raise money for the various groups and served as treasurer and president on several occasions. Also, during this time her and her husband purchased a home in the SC mountains which at one point they used as rental property thru VRBO.com.

In 2003 thru expansion of her husbands business, she began to fulfill her current business skills where she performs the duties of CEO of Pioneer Lighting, Inc., a residential and commercial lighting distributor with a showroom located 40 minutes outside of Atlanta in Bethlehem, GA. In an effort to expand her business opportunities, Shellie Schlenz, recently got her real estate license for the State of Georgia.

Because of their business success and in an effort to prepare for their future and “empty nest”, her husband and her began looking to fulfill their dream of owning a house on the coast during 2016. They felt that the people and small community feel that Beaufort had is what attracted them to the area and why they ultimately purchased their home on Harbor Island. Because of their flexible schedules, they are at their home at least twice a month if not more. While they are not a full-time resident yet, they see themselves eventually retiring to the Harbor Island community.

With her life experiences and almost 30 years of business experience, Shellie Schlenz, brings a host of abilities, vision, people skills, communication skills and ultimately the passion to serve others.
