

PREPARATION

Preparing for the possible land fall of a hurricane should be an ongoing process. Being prepared is the key to a successful outcome of an approaching or impacting system in the area. An approaching system can cause the evacuation of millions of people as it moves up the coast before making a direct impact on an area. Whether you decide to remain or evacuate, there are specific things you can do to prepare.

Before Hurricane Season Starts:

- Write a Family Disaster Plan and review with family members
- Discuss possible hazards with family members
- Gather all important papers and identification
- Itemize property – make a list or take photos or a video
- Plan your evacuation route and possible destinations
- Prepare a Disaster Survival Kit – food, candles, water, medication
- Plan to protect windows, doors and vessels
- Make plans to take care of pets – do not leave them behind to fend for themselves and shelters do not take pets

Watch Phase:

- Activate your Family Disaster Plan – identify things that may require additional time such as securing a vessel
- Check your Disaster Survival Kit
- Get a supply of medication
- Gather important papers and information
- Review your evacuation route and destination – confirm reservations
- Fill your vehicle(s) with fuel
- Monitor weather information

Warning Phase:

- Use your Family Disaster Plan
- Ready your Disaster Supply Kit for use – if you evacuate take the kit with you – food, water and medication can be used if you are stopped in traffic
- Secure your vessel
- Have cash and credit cards
- Move or secure items inside the garage or house
- Cover windows – tape does not protect windows
- Place vehicles to be left behind inside the garage
- Take care of your pets
- Turn off gas, electricity and water
- Lock doors and windows before leaving
- Confirm reservations
- Provide Security/relatives with your destination information
- Monitor weather information